Confirming you have completed COVID-19 testing

Students, faculty and staff,

As KU continues to conduct mandatory testing for students, faculty, and staff returning to our Lawrence and Edwards campuses before Sept. 7, we have added a space online for you to confirm you have completed the testing requirement.

Faculty, staff, and students need to complete the online pledge at <https://covidtest.ku.edu/me/attest>. The pledge will allow you to 1) confirm you have completed the testing process, 2) indicate that you do not plan to be on campus before Sept. 7, or 3) confirm that you have previously tested positive for COVID-19 on June 7 or after.

For those who do not complete this form by Monday, Aug. 24, we will follow up as appropriate.

If you are scheduled to receive a saliva test through our entry testing process but haven't yet taken it, you should fill out this form after you complete your testing.

Those who have tested positive for COVID-19 during the last 90 days, regardless of where the test was performed, should not participate in the entry testing unless they are members of KU Student Housing. Those who have previously tested positive in this window can have a high probability of testing positive again despite no longer being contagious. Those who have tested positive should fully comply with isolation protocols and other directions given to them from health officials before returning to campus.

Students living in KU Student Housing will have tests provided as part of the move-in process and do not need to arrange for any other appointments to take a test.

If you still need to sign up for an appointment to receive a test and have not yet done so, please visit <https://protect.ku.edu/covid-19-testing-information> and sign up. Some appointment times are available for students at the Park and Ride location through Sunday.

Students, faculty, and staff who were not able to secure an appointment through the previous entry testing process and still need to get tested before returning to campus may sign up for an appointment to receive a test from the mobile testing unit outside Watkins Health Services. These appointments begin on Monday.

If you are exhibiting symptoms of COVID-19, you should call Watkins Health Services directly at 864-9507 to arrange an appointment or contact your primary health care provider.
